

The next name the world must learn.” – Eden Biniaurishvili announces the Bishvili Innovation Group Inc.

Delaware / Worldwide – The global stage has been dominated for years by the same names: Elon Musk. Jeff Bezos. Mark Zuckerberg. But now, a new force is stepping into the spotlight.

Eden Biniaurishvili, entrepreneur and visionary, officially announces the launch of the Bishvili Innovation Group Inc. – a project that promises nothing less than a new global order.

“I don’t build the future. I am the future – and it begins right now, writing history,” says Biniaurishvili. “By 2030 we will build an empire of companies and billions. And everyone who underestimates us will understand why they never should have.”

Details about structures, industries, or first deals remain deliberately hidden. The message is clear: if you want to know what’s coming, you’ll have to pay close attention.

“You know the old names. But not what’s next. Musk, Bezos, Zuckerberg – I’m on my way up. And I won’t stop until I’m standing there.”

The Bishvili Innovation Group Inc. does not begin as a startup, but as a statement: a declaration that the next generation of global power players is already here – and refuses to settle for second place.